

Cade McDonald
cade@hughes-cre.com

Cade McDonald is an Atlanta industrial investment sales specialist at Hughes Commercial Real Estate, Inc., specializing in the acquisition and disposition of industrial properties throughout Georgia. Cade began his real estate career in 2007 as a principal and landlord of an industrial loft office redevelopment. Since joining Hughes Commercial Real Estate in 2020, Cade enjoys leveraging his IT skills using CRM, databases, analytics, and marketing automation to stay more organized and deliver higher value. Cade received a BBA in International Business from the University of Georgia and an MBA from Emory University. He is a licensed real estate broker in the State of Georgia, a member of the Atlanta Commercial Board of Realtors, an instrument rated private pilot, a member of Capital City Club, a past member of Capital City Club Golf Tournament Committee, a past board member of EO Atlanta, a member of Peachtree Church, and a proud husband and father. Previously, Cade founded, grew (over sixteen years) and sold an ecommerce company called AchooAllergy.com.